AIRPLANE CO. WANTS PORT IN CITY

Ontario Concern In Deal

Specializes in Forest Patrol, Surveying, Photography and Freighting

Suitability of this city as an air port has been recognized by the Canadian Air Service Company, with headquarters at Peterborough, Flying Field, Peterborough, Ont., and if present plans mature, a fleet of ships will be established here next spring, according to word received at the Board of Trade offices on Tuesday morning.

The Peterborough concern has written to the Board of Trade, asking for information as to the适合度 of this city for an air port. The letter volunteers the information that establishment of ships here will be a certainty, and that this city is the most desirable place to establish an air port.

Phone Freight Transport. The Canadian Air Service Company, engaged in surveying, photography, and freight transport.

John Blue, secretary of the Board of Trade, has communicated some information to the Board of Trade, Kenneth A. Blatchford, M.P., has been enthusiastic over this city's prospects as an air center, and has worked with this end in view.

HON. DR. KING TO SPEAK HERE ON WEDNESDAY

Federal Minister Completes Tour Into Peace River Country

On his way to Ottawa, following a tour of the Peace River country, Hon. Dr. King, the federal Columbia representative, the federal cabinet will be the principal speaker at a mass meeting which has been called for the Masonic Hall on Wednesday night.

Traveling with Hon. Dr. King are H. G. Perry, Liberal member in the British Columbia legislature for the Prince George district, and Robert J. Morris, publisher of the Vancouver Star. Hon. Dr. King and K. A. Blatchford, East Edmonton member of the legislature, Hon. George and with President S. E. Smith, president of the Liberal association, are accompanying the minister on his tour to Edmonton.

With Hon. Dr. King made the present trip to the Peace River country, according to him, to advise as to the desirability of a coast outlet for the Peace River. He has also been engaged in a promised personal investigation of the proposed outlet. No definite statement was made with that object in view. It is expected that some pronouncements will be made by Hon. Dr. King in the action of the British Columbia cabinet, which is prepared to take in the matter.

New Wheat Starts Flaw From Prairie to Lakes

WHEAT growing in the Canadian new grain over the Canadian Pacific railway has shown marked increase in quality and quantity. The cars of wheat were handled in this period 244 cars of all grain.

The increase in quality as well as in the amount of the grain is to be reached in the next few weeks.

MISS MCGILLIAN QUITS

EDMONTON, Aug. 29.—Miss Anna McGillian, 20, a Canadian physician, abandoned her attempt to become a tennis player to check this afternoon after being given a chance to play tennis during three-fourths of the distance from Camp Grey, New France. A Frenchwoman, who had been in the water as an tender, further prompted her to leave.

MONTEGO BAY, Aug. 29.—A party of mariners and Quebec business men will leave here tonight for Vancouver, British Columbia, to attend a national chamber of commerce from September 12 to 15.

Raising a Racket

A new-comer to the ranks of the English women tennis stars is easy to distinguish. Alison, 16, a racket player rated among net fans when she first took to the courts at Forest Hills, Long Island, where this shot of her in action was made.

Alimony Payers Hand-Out Some Good Advice to Married Women

Ten Rules Are Laid Out That if Followed Will Increase Marital Bliss, They Declare

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—The Alimony Payers Protective association, most of whose members are in jail for non-payment of alimony, have issued 10 suggestions.

"They are not commandments or rules," said Mr. Enoch said, "but are suggestions made by our members to us."

"They are to help you make better enemies, of your husband. They make profits and cause trouble. Your husband will give you more money voluntarily than will ever get in cash."

"Do not pay any money voluntarily after arrest and will never have anything to do with your husband if you can possibly avoid it."

"(4)—Avoid your husband and jealous."

Keep the in-laws separated or at least in the background.

"(5)—Do not buy furniture or take all the money you can lay your hands on. Your husband is sure to be a good man and never forget it."

"(6)—Do not prevent your husband from raising the children. It is predicted the possibility of any reconciliation will be greater if you are not around."

"(7)—Do not tell your husband you are married, do not tell him you can fold your hands in idleness the rest of your life."

"(8)—Do not tell your husband to provide for you when he is dead and do his best to prevent his doing so."

"(9)—Do not tell the gods that lay the golden egg. Your husband cannot succeed at anything without your active co-operation."

"(10)—Do not tell your husband and your parents' daughter."

Keep the in-laws separated or at least in the background.

A PAVING PROGRAM

It will be welcome news to the citizens generally that the city engineers have been instructed to draw up a program of street improvement, designed to provide for systematic construction during a number of years.

The need for such a plan is too apparent to require argument. We are suffering now the consequences of years of enforced neglect of our streets. That neglect was imposed very largely because in earlier years we carried on our paving work without any definite scheme as a guide to where the money should go.

Paving was laid where the need for it was anticipated. When the times changed it was found impossible to pave streets where paving was immediately necessary. As a result we have miles of pavement that is little used, while streets in the very heart of the city either have never been paved or are deplorable.

One of the advantages of drawing up a program now is that it will avoid the danger of repeating this mistake. With a definite schedule of improvements to be made in rotation, there will be little danger of sectional interests being able to "put over" an unwanted project.

It is one thing to lay down a program, and another thing to lay the paving. How far the plan will go will depend on the amount of money available to be governed by the amount of money available.

That will depend on the will of the taxpayers to provide the funds, and the fidelity with which successive city councils keep down expenditures in other directions in order to concentrate on this vital work.

There is no advantage in drawing up a program, and accepting as the one to be followed, what money can be spent in any year can be put to the best possible use. And with the retirement of bonds which have run their course, it should be possible to do a good deal of street improving during the next five years without compromising our finances or unduly burdening the tax bills.

THE REDUCED RATES

The Railway Commission has anticipated a general revision of freight rates by issuing an order relating to the rates on wheat and flour for export. The new ruling becomes effective on Sept. 15, and the better part of the present season's wheat will probably all of the present season's rates.

While the legal representatives of Manitoba and British Columbia will hold their opinions as to how the new rates will be affected, and to what extent there seems to be no room for doubt that the farmers over the larger part of the prairie provinces will benefit by the new rates, whatever their final take may be in market.

The basis of the rates established by the new ruling is, of course, the C. P. R. Neat agreement made thirty years ago between the Dominion Government and the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. The National railways and any other railway concern are required to conform to the ruling laid down in that agreement.

When, after the end of the war, it was decided that the C. P. R. Neat should again come into effect, the railways raised the point that the agreement applied only to the C. P. R. as it existed when the agreement was made. Farmers in territory served by the C. P. R. and the N. P. R. had accordingly been denied rates parity, thus, entitling farmers living along the main line of the C. P. R.

The new order wiped out this discrimination against farmers along the newer lines of railway, and enables them to the same mileage rate as farmers along the main line. The saving to farmers in most cases is estimated at about three cents per hundred pounds.

Two years ago the Commission ordered that the rates on wheat and flour to ports should be on the same basis as rates to Fort William. The railways, however, computed the mileage in the Pacific ports by the longest route available. That has been corrected, and the saving is estimated on the assumption that the grain would travel via Edmonton, and the rate from Edmonton to Vancouver on the assumption that the grain would travel by way of Calgary.

The new order puts an injunction against that ingenious method of figuring. It states definitely that the distance of Fort William from Vancouver is to be assumed to be the distance from Edmonton to Vancouver on the National lines, 764 miles. The prospective saving to Alberta farmers is stated to be from two to five cents per hundred on grain shipped to Vancouver or Prince Rupert.

A further clause in the order is designed to bring the Canadian National Transcontinental into use as a grain carrier, the purpose of which is not clear, but to which it has never yet been put in any great extent. The National Railways are ordered to cut rates from Fort William and Armstrong to Quebec from 24 cents per hundred to 18.24 cents in the case of wheat, and 20.25 cents per hundred to 15.38 cents in the case of other grains.

It is also ordered that rates on grain from ports on Georgian Bay to Quebec shall be the same as to Montreal, and that on all export traffic from Toronto and points west the rates to Quebec shall be the same as to Montreal.

If the order means what it seems to mean, these reductions amount to a remarkably heavy crop tax being levied on the grain carriers, and a saving of several million dollars to the western farmers, and to the business interests of the West, during the next few months.

Her Second Choice By EDGAR A. GUEST

"If ever I marry again," said she, "I'll marry a man with a lot of style. One who is well dressed, and one who will care for the things worth while. To spend your days as a toller's wife."

And her first man laughed and he said, "I know. I am far from being a great success. But I care for you, and I'd sell my soul for your happiness. If ever you marry again, perhaps, I'll be the man."

And he died a couple of years ago.

And now she's the wife of a gentleman. The pleasures she longed for are hers to know. The man she married is a good man. But she often disturbs the husband now. By telling him things while the old would do.

For her second choice is weak and vain. And she's not the only one who is not true. But she isn't quite sure that he will remain.

For the first time in history to consider national finance.

There was the President of the Bank of England and the Reichs Bank of Germany, the Deputy Governor of the Bank of France, the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, the Governor of the Federal Reserve Board and the Governor of the New York Reserve Bank.

They were the first to consider the interests of stabilization. They considered proposals for dealing with the inter-allied war debts and other world debts.

To a man on a free the wonder is that they did not address themselves to the most interesting and important problem of the day, the stabilization of the currency by placing it upon some hard and stable metal.

There may be technical difficulties in the way of this and doubtless there are. Everybody who attacks the problem is right.

Everyone's efforts have been made by Irving Yale, a professor of Yale, in this direction. Others have done their best, but Yale has the best.

But the gold supply of the world is precarious, to say the least, and it is not a human necessity, particularly in the case of a man.

There may be technical difficulties in the way of this and doubtless there are. Everybody who attacks the problem is right.

Everyone's efforts have been made by Irving Yale, a professor of Yale, in this direction. Others have done their best, but Yale has the best.

DOROTHY DIX

Why Divorce Is Not Always the Way Out for the Middle-Aged Wife—The Talented Girl Who Wants to Sell Stock in Her Career—Is the Term "Gold-Digger" a Compliment or a Knock?

Dear Miss Dix—I married a poor man and have helped him to make a living working side by side with him, saving, contriving, sacrificing everything for him. He has never given me a cent, and my husband thinks that he has fallen in love with a woman whose husband divorced her account of her unfaithfulness to him.

I feel that my husband owes me a return for the love and care that I have given him and that my children and I have a right to expect a return for the love and care that I have given him. Therefore, I refuse to give him a divorce. I will not yield my rights regarding my husband and my children, and I will not let him bring him back to reason and conquer her. He has had to my own. Do you not think my position just?
